TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY JAMES FIRE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Our No. 1 U.S. spy is at the moment, the most spied upon federal agency boss in the country.

He is John A. McCone, director of the central intelligence agency.

McCone has not yet told him to his office. But his every act, word, and mood are matters of avid concern to dozens, even hundreds, higher echelons of the CIA and the state department as well. Everything he does is analyzed to his thoughts and plans for the future of CIA.

Shock Therapy

Governor Smyle's talk on behalf of the joint YMCA-YWCA drive appears to be something in the way of shock therapy in an attempt to help the campaigners.

Certainly the governor's all-inclusive charge was broad enough, labeling Twin Falls and Magic Valley as a community which shows a striking inability to live up to community responsibility."

Governor Smyle cited one example taken from his personal experience as state chairman of the youth and government committee for the YMCA. He said Magic Valley offered less per capita support of the program—a youth legislative session in Boise—than any community in the state. All of which led the governor to his conclusion that Twin Falls and the rest of Magic Valley shirk community responsibility.

Some residents might take exception to Governor Smyle's words. They might point out, to the contrary, Magic Valley people meet their community responsibilities, but hesitate to spend money on marginal programs or those of questionable value.

It's not surprising that Governor Smyle found YMCA response in Magic Valley for the YMCA boys' legislative session. After all, the region didn't and still doesn't have an active, established YMCA with building and program open to all boys of the community. What else could the governor expect besides poor or half-hearted support?

As a matter of fact, that's one of the goals of the present drive, to establish a full-fledged YMCA instead of having one mostly in name only. Success of the current drive will assure a Twin Falls center for the YMCA and YWCA, a community Christian center. Such was the vision of Mrs. Evangelia White, who let the building she owned to be used for the first time, providing the community with a definite nucleus for the new YMCA administration.

Mrs. White had their favorite's a full-fledged YMCA, and she abhorred personal publicity and was known to specify that no recognition be given to her contributions.

At least in one respect, Governor Smyle's talk made sense. In referring to the work by Mrs. White, the governor said, "It is important that you take advantage of this gift. If not, a rare community asset can be lost to you and all who come after."

If Mrs. White had enough love for her community to leave almost $200,000 to be used in establishing a Christian center for the YMCA and YWCA, then Twin Falls people certainly should buy YMCA and YWCA memberships and contribute willingly. That's little enough to ask after a cheerful, little, old lady wrote a will that will make the whole project possible by providing citizens demonstrate their love.

There's no doubt Mrs. White was thinking only of the welfare of youngsters and her community when she wrote her will. Only after the will was filed in probate court did its terms become known. And as an example of Mrs. White's desire to avoid publicity, no one could ever find a photograph of her to use with the story on her will.

By comparison, all the rest of the people in Twin Falls are being asked to contribute only $15,000 before Nov. 21. That's hardly even a challenge, because there's no doubt that many people think as much of their community as did Mrs. White, even though they lack the means to express their thoughts so eloquently.

Active support of the YMCA and YWCA through purchase of memberships now will lead those organizations to a center of which the community, and Mrs. White, could be proud.

WINTER IS LONGER

Winters will be longer from now on. No less an authority than the Old Farmer's Almanac says so. It all came about by the simple means of adding another month to the year. The almanac declares that henceforth April will be considered a winter month for the simple reason there's no use classifying April as a spring month "when it never really was."

Apparently the decision leaves May and June as spring months, July and August for summer, September, October and November for autumn and the rest of the year for winter, namely five months of it.

Even though April is "officially" a part of winter, now the weather will have a difficult time keeping folks from getting attacks of spring fever some April day when the sun beats down enough to make shirtsleeves comfortable.

Right now the outlook for the suddenly longer winter is not too encouraging. The almanac specifies "winter will be a little colder than last year" — there will not be as much snow."

It would be interesting to hear the comments of the U.S. weather bureau on such a blanket prediction. Or is that the source of some of the long range forecasts?

CHANGES COME—Why? Because private industry-toughened, Republican McCone plainly is squaring away for some home-tightening changes in CIA, key personnel—and probably in CIA operations, too. Few outsiders will know who is fired or promoted, but the list of changes is well known, except possibly in Washington society columns and circles. For example, only its director and his duty in the huge agency are known. In the CIA's internal directory, guide to federal officials.

One reason President Kennedy picked McCone to tighten things at CIA after the Cuban invasion fiasco was that McCone learned a lot about human intelligence—when he was chairman of the atomic energy commission under President Eisenhower.

And where do upper level executives of the state department fit in all this?

The answer is that the policies they recommend have been influenced by what other countries often are influenced by CIA reports on those countries.

FRATERNALISM—More than just association between policy makers at state and evaluators of intelligence at CIA has been close. There was a long period of the brothers at the joint, the later John Foster Dulles as secretary of state and Allen W. Dulles as head of CIA. (Sister Eleanor Lansing Dulles still holds a top CIA post.)

Doubtless this kinship had a trickle-down effect on subordinates. Skeptical observers have suggested that the top CIA may influence the judgment of CIA in its evaluation of basic intelligence materials.

In short, CIA evaluators—consciously or unconsciously—may have tended to support known preferences of state department or White House advisers.

McCONE WATCHERS—Thus when Allen Dulles was named CIA director a few months in the President's request, it was only natural that the new secretary of state, Dean Rusk, and those closest to him on foreign policy would have their favorites as a successor. So did McCone's bunch, White House foreign affairs specialists.

Both Rusk and Bundy were reported to have favored appointment of Paul H. Nitze. He has served with distinction in relatively high posts under Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy.

Mrs. White's nomination caught the movers and shakers of CIA off balance. And his performance so far in office has kept them that way. They know he is firmly resolved to improve CIA performance and to boost its currently low rating among congressional committees as "how CIA conducts its business." That is why so many of our present leaders have become McCone-watchers. Their job security is in his hands.

ACADEMIC ABILITY ISN'T ALL

Harvard and Princeton colleges almost certainly fill their freshman classes every year with students who rank in the top one per cent in a nation-wide qualifying test. But would that be good for the universities of the students of our country?

A recently retired dean of admissions at Harvard and Princeton colleges almost certainly fill their freshman classes every year with students who rank in the top one per cent in a nation-wide qualifying test. But would that be good for the universities of the students of our country?

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR FACTS

The political and financial administration has been scheduled in many of the country's largest cities next month as a sort of shadow window of accomplishments to date. Federal experts will explain what has passed in the last year as it affects the various communities and members of the cabinet and others will address regional gatherings on the more significant aspects of President Kennedy's domestic program.

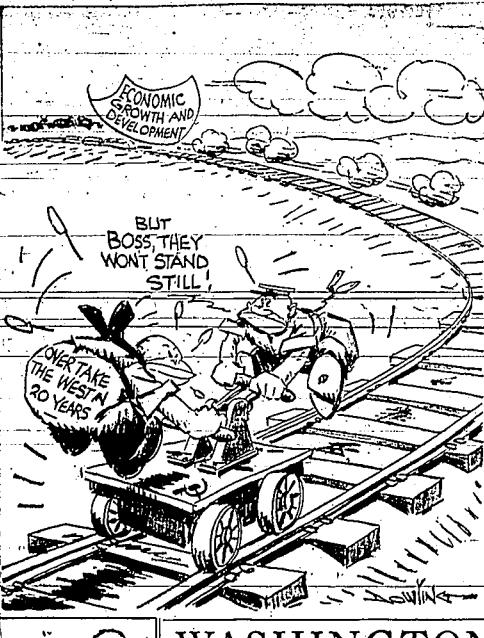

There is much to be said for this direct confrontation of local officials and private citizens in many different parts of the land. Legislation is not the only thing that's affected the various communities and members of the cabinet and others will address regional gatherings on the more significant aspects of President Kennedy's domestic program.

Even though April is "officially" a part of winter, now the weather will have a difficult time keeping folks from getting attacks of spring fever some April day when the sun beats down enough to make shirtsleeves comfortable.

Have to Take That Into Account

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (NEA)—Some Russian and American economists frequently quoted in this paper have influenced the judgment of CIA in its evaluation of basic intelligence materials.

In short, CIA evaluators—consciously or unconsciously—may have tended to support known preferences of state department or White House advisers.

Dean Asserts School Funds Yield Benefit

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9 (UPI)—If the country would apply the same kind of energy and money to the problems of education as it does to agriculture, there would be a bumper crop of national benefit, says Dean Lindley J. Stiles of the University of Wisconsin, who believes the real frontiers of education have not yet even been reached.

He told the council of chief school officers Wednesday that properly supported, education would become the kind of scientific process that farming is today.

The federal government now spends 100 million dollars a year on research in agriculture, but only about five million dollars on research in education, Stiles said.

He urged the state superintendents and commissioners of education here to sign a one-month, three-day deadline here, to support a proposal that the federal government appropriate an additional $100 million in federal dollars for education research, a year for educational research.

Stiles said later, in an interview, "Farmers used to farm according to the old adage, 'try and trial and error.' That is the way too many of our schools are about youngsters today. It is about time we change that. The education of the mind just as important as the cultivation of the mind."

RETURNS HOME

CASTLEFORD, Nov. 9—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bishop and their daughter, Denise Denney, have returned from a year's visit with relatives in the United States and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hamilton, have joined them. Son, Kenneth Bishop, a medical student in Oklahoma, has returned to visit Frank Bishop's brothers and sisters in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas.

Chemical Firm Expanding Its Building at Rupert

Earlier, however, part of the Rocky Mountain Chemicals company's expansion program was being rushed to completion with workers taking advantage of good weather. The company plans to expand its potato processing to include frozen French fries in addition to the commercial alcohol plant which was in operation. The new plant will be a $1.5 million investment, company officials said. A new piece of machinery was holding up the installation of the French fry department, adding that some $30 per cent of the equipment is already here waiting to be put into place. The alcohol division of the plant is also undergoing extensive remodeling. They require half the cost of the expansion project, which will cost about $1 million dollars, according to plant officials. They hope to be ready to begin processing before the first of the year. The plant will distribute frozen French fries and a frozen boiled potato product under the "Spring Hill" brand. Besides the commercial alcohol, a million gallons of a cattle feed additive is being sold. The company also plans to broaden its cattle feeding operations this fall, officials report. Karen Gier and Glimp Are Wed In Filer Service

TWIN FALLS, Nov. 8.—A double ring ceremony Saturday evening, Nov. 4, at the Clover Trinity Lutheran church united in marriage Karen Gier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gier, Filer, and Ralph Glimp, son of Mrs. Hortense Glimp, Boise, and Ralph L. Glimp, Lancaster, Calif.

The church services were performed by the Rev. Carl Losser before an altar decorated with baskets of pink chrysanthemums and white tapers in gold candleholders.

The aisle was marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of delustered satin featuring a scoop-necked bodice and a long and bodice of embroidered Chantilly lace, which formed a panel down the front. The dropped pleated waist fell into a chapel train.

The bride's mother, a long hem length veil of pleated tulle fell from a Chantilly lace headpiece enhanced with pearls. She wore pearl earrings and a necklace of diamonds, a blue headband, and carried a crescent bouquet of pink Eiffel roses entwined with ivy and spangled with a white orchid.

Ina Smith, Boise, was maid of honor; Joyce Weller, Filer, Boise, was bridesmaid. Each wore a gown of aqua delustered satin fashioned with a scooped neckline and a dropped waist. Each wore a square-shaped shoe with small headpieces of velvet leaves with face veils. Each carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Miss Gier, sister of the bride, flower girl, was dressed identically to the other attendants. She carried a white satin basket filled with rose petals.

Mr. and Richard J. Jacobs, parents of the bride, were co-dignitaries. Charles Smith, Boise, was best man and ushers were Oliver Smith, Boise; Glen Gier, Filer; and John Gier, Filer.

Mrs. Vernon Lassen, organist, also played a wedding march.

The bride's mother "wore" a dress of turquoise crepe with a matching hat. She was accessorized with a necklace of roses and carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was covered with a lace cloth over a nylon flour, over pink. The hand-crocheted lace cloth was made by her mother, Emily Gier, aunt of the bride.

Centering the table was a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink and white roses and carnations. The top tier of the wedding cake was topped with two pink bells trimmed with net and lily of the valley.

Ivy and pink carnations "crowned" the top of the cake, which was flanked by heart-shaped cakes inscribed with the names "Karen" and "Ralph." Pink candles and crystal holders with lace completed the table's appointments. Mrs. Paul Stenger and Mrs. R. W. Rickenbacker, aunts of the bride, served punch and Mrs. Reuben

Alabama Looms as Rose Bowl Candidate as Grid Classics Come Into Focus

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—The always cloudy college football bowl picture has a new element of uncertainty this year—a Big Ten team may not be invited to the biggest of them all, the Rose bowl in Pasadena, Calif. There is at least a fair chance Alabama might get the bid. The working agreement between the West and the Big Ten has expired, although Minnesota was invited last year.

There is some disagreement over the game and the upshot could be a switch by the West Coast group to another area for the visiting group.

Campbell Is Runaway for Second Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Huck Campbell, who had a 10-0 record in his first year as coach of the "hustle" season, is Alabama's runaway in defense of his title as the top receiver in major college football.

He has 1,000 yards from the NCAA ice bureau. He needs only 113 to set the national record.

He is the only one in the conference to do it.

The challenge was issued to the Burley Lodge meeting

Wednesday night by Frank

Urquhart.

Liston Happy To Be Back On Ring List

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (UPI)—That's good, now I won't have to knock off that britches to get into the ring," said Sonny Liston talking today after the National Boxing Association Tuesday re-entered him at No. 10 in the list of Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title in monthly ratings.

At its previous rating, the NBA had Patterson at No. 1.

Henry Cooper

is the ranking contender for Patterson's crown, ignoring

Liston because of his record.

"Maybe I haven't got to fight who's who," grinned Sonny, who doesn't grin easily.

Now—rates—Cooper

fourth.

Liston, 28, has spent most of his career winning fights in the ring and never quite catching up with Patterson.

At the moment, he may be

Students Hear of College Scholarship Possibilities

Students; Parents Urged to Look Into Scholarship Plan

The school can't apply for scholarships, the students and parents must take the initiative," Boyd Lowe, guidance director, told students at the school.

He mentioned that students are given information "and materials" on scholarship programs, but that each student must "apply to the college and write home to the parents."

Several types of scholarships are available to students. Scholarships are offered by most colleges and universities. Community foundations, however, have much larger appropriations. Non-profit organizations, such as the national merit scholarship organization, give scholarships as well as financial aid.

College scholarships, generally available only at Idaho colleges, are offered by local civic groups.

Applications for scholarships from the University of Idaho, Boise, must be received at the University by Feb. 1. Lowe notes that applications to most other universities and colleges will be due March 1.

"Apply early and apply for more than one type of scholarship," Lowe urges. He notes that high school students should consider applying for the national merit scholarship because of the lower tuition and fees. He pointed out that a scholarship should be used for the college of choice, since it would be ridiculous to use a $100 scholarship at an eastern school because transportation costs would be greater than the scholarship is worth.

Tuition for the national merit scholarships are given during the junior year in high school. Lowe mentioned that by 1961 the na-

David Driscoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Driscoll, and standing, Boyd Lowe, guidance director. Lowe emphasizes the high school cannot apply for students' scholarships, but parents and students must take the initiative. College and large corporations are giving financial aid to college students and smaller scholarships are given by local civic organizations throughout Magic Valley. (Staff photo-entertainment) tional merit program had distributed some 25 million dollars worth of scholarships.

He added that 25 per cent of the semi-finalists in the national merit scholarship program are from Idaho.

The only college examination available is the GM national scholarship.

The GM national scholarship is open to all high school seniors eligible to compete for the 100 four-year scholarships offered by General Motors under its national scholarship plan.

Interested students must apply for both the GM national scholarship and the SAT (scholastic aptitude test) of college boards.

The GM award is $1,000 per year. Selection of scholarship winners is made by a group of leading educators from throughout the country.

GM, under its college plan, offers scholarships to students in colleges and universities. Awards under both plans range from $200 to $1,000 per year, depending on the college.

Twin Falls high school students interested in applying for scholarships are urged to obtain information, application blanks and other material from Lowe or Kell.

Lowe notes that students in other Magic Valley high schools are urged to contact school authorities in regard to information on financial aid.

Lowe notes that parents with a yearly income of $7,000 are expected to pay $1,000 per year toward a college education for their children.

He pointed out that parents are expected to yield $1,500. If a student is eligible for financial aid and more than one child in the family is in college, the student is urged to apply for the scholarship.
